RE: Project Manager Development Program

Register early to ensure your spot!

Constructors Association and the Master Builders' Association of Western Pennsylvania are proud to present AGC's NEW Project Manager Development Program

Why send your employees out of state for training with the high cost of travel, hotel expenses, and time away from the office? Because CAWP knows you value your time, we have brought the new Project Manager Development Program (PMDP) directly to our members.

Program Objective: To increase the efficiency and effectiveness of project managers by providing instruction on the art and science of project management. Participation will better prepare professionals to make the transition from entry-level positions to positions of increasing responsibility as a project manager.

Program Overview: This new program will provide the essential skills of project management through five separate courses. Each highly interactive, 16-hour course will be held over two days.

Who Should Attend? The PMDP is designed for early-career project managers and those that aspire to be in such a role.

Module	Session Title	Date
Module 1:	Estimating and Job Costing	January 15-16, 2009
Module 2:	Contract Administration	February 5-6, 2009
Module 3:	Project Administration	March 18-19, 2009
Module 4:	Risk Management	April 9-10, 2009
Module 5:	Leadership	April 30-May 1, 2009

CAWP recommends that attendees complete all 5 modules!

Instructor: Mark Federle, PE, PhD, CPC is the Chair in Construction Engineering and Management at Marquette University. Previously he was Chief Information Officer for the Weitz Company in Des Moines for nine years. Prior to joining Weitz, Federle was the Professor-in-Charge of Construction Engineering program at Iowa State University, where he taught for nine years. Mark's career began in the construction industry working as a foreman, superintendent, and project manager for general contractors in Indiana and Michigan.
