Exclusive, Instant,
FREE TRAINING
Available NOW at the
CAWP MEMBER PORTAL

The CAWP Member Portal Learning Management System is available NOW to all CAWP members. This dynamic tool delivers courses directly to your training room, your employees' desktop, and even to your handheld devices – at no cost to you! Current courses available to your employees include:

Professional Construction Leader – a series of 26 on-demand, dynamic, short training videos, featuring Mark Breslin of Breslin Strategies – is available now to contractor members on the CAWP Member Portal. Take advantage of this convenient, cost-free online program to provide your supervisors and foremen with relevant content to mentor, motivate and lead construction crews.

Topics include improving employee performance, resolving conflicts, instilling positive reinforcement, leading by example, managing time and decision-making, effective discipline, and much more.

The COVID-19 Pandemic Response Training Tool helps contractors and their employees comply with current training requirements and educates participants about the facts of the COVID-19 pandemic and how they can protect themselves and those around them.

The goal of this program is to provide online COVID-19 awareness training for the industry. The program has four short quizzes and will generate a certificate.

Bipartisan Deal Reached on Infrastructure

Last week, President Biden announced support for the bipartisan infrastructure framework that was recently announced. Following the announcement, AGC released this summary on the largest long-term investment in our infrastructure and competitiveness in nearly a century.

Urgent Action Alert

As construction materials remain at record high prices and face continued availability challenges, President Biden and Congress are taking actions to make things worse. Meanwhile, construction firms around the country are absorbing these costs—which would better be invested in recruiting and retaining construction workers—without significant relief in

Upcoming National Events

Construction Safety, Health and Environmental Virtual Conference July 20-22, 2021

Join AGC for the industry's foremost annual conference to hone in on the most critical safety, health, and environmental compliance and risk issues impacting the business of construction.

President Biden is neither removing significant tariffs and quotas on steel and aluminum from America's allies, nor is he entering lumber negotiations with such allies or domestic mills. Instead, the president has put forth a supply chain plan that would limit the ability of construction workers and firms to fill needed positions by pressing for government-mandated project labor agreements, local hire requirements, and registered apprenticeship goals for construction projects.

Similarly, Congress is advancing legislation that would further limit the availability of construction materials used on federal-aid transportation and direct federal construction projects. That legislation would expand domestic manufacturing requirements already applicable to steel and iron to "construction materials," including but not limited to cement and asphalt (including any materials needed to make the products) and aggregates like stone and gravel.
